

3133 East Kemper Road • Cincinnati, OH 45241 • (513) 771-2200 • Fax: (513) 771-0520

PRESS RELEASE

October 14, 2011

Mark M. Andreae, chairman and CEO of Clarke Power Services, Inc., announced Friday, October 14th the agreement with Geneva Corporation to acquire their Covington Power Services division has been completed.

Clarke Power Services, Inc., headquartered in Cincinnati, is one of the largest privately held companies in Ohio. Founded by Clarke F. Andreae in 1964, Clarke is an authorized distributor for Allison Transmission, MTU industrial engines, MTU On-Site Energy, and Detroit Diesel & Mercedes Benz truck engines. Clarke is a global leader in diesel fire pump drivers and diesel generators through its Clarke Fire Protection Products and Clarke Power Generation businesses.

By acquiring Covington Power Services, Clarke adds 10 parts & service locations, for a total of 30, covering 10 states in the Midwest, South, and Southeast. Clarke is a founding member of the WheelTime® network and will continue to provide its valued customers with superior customer support. In addition, Clarke will continue to expand its VehiCare® mobile fleet maintenance services throughout Tennessee & North Carolina.

To obtain more information about Clarke Power Services, Inc. please visit www.clarkepsi.com

Cincinnati, OH • Fort Wayne, IN • Henderson, KY • Indianapolis, IN • Jackson, MS • Lexington/Georgetown & Louisville, KY • Memphis, TN • St. Louis, MO

